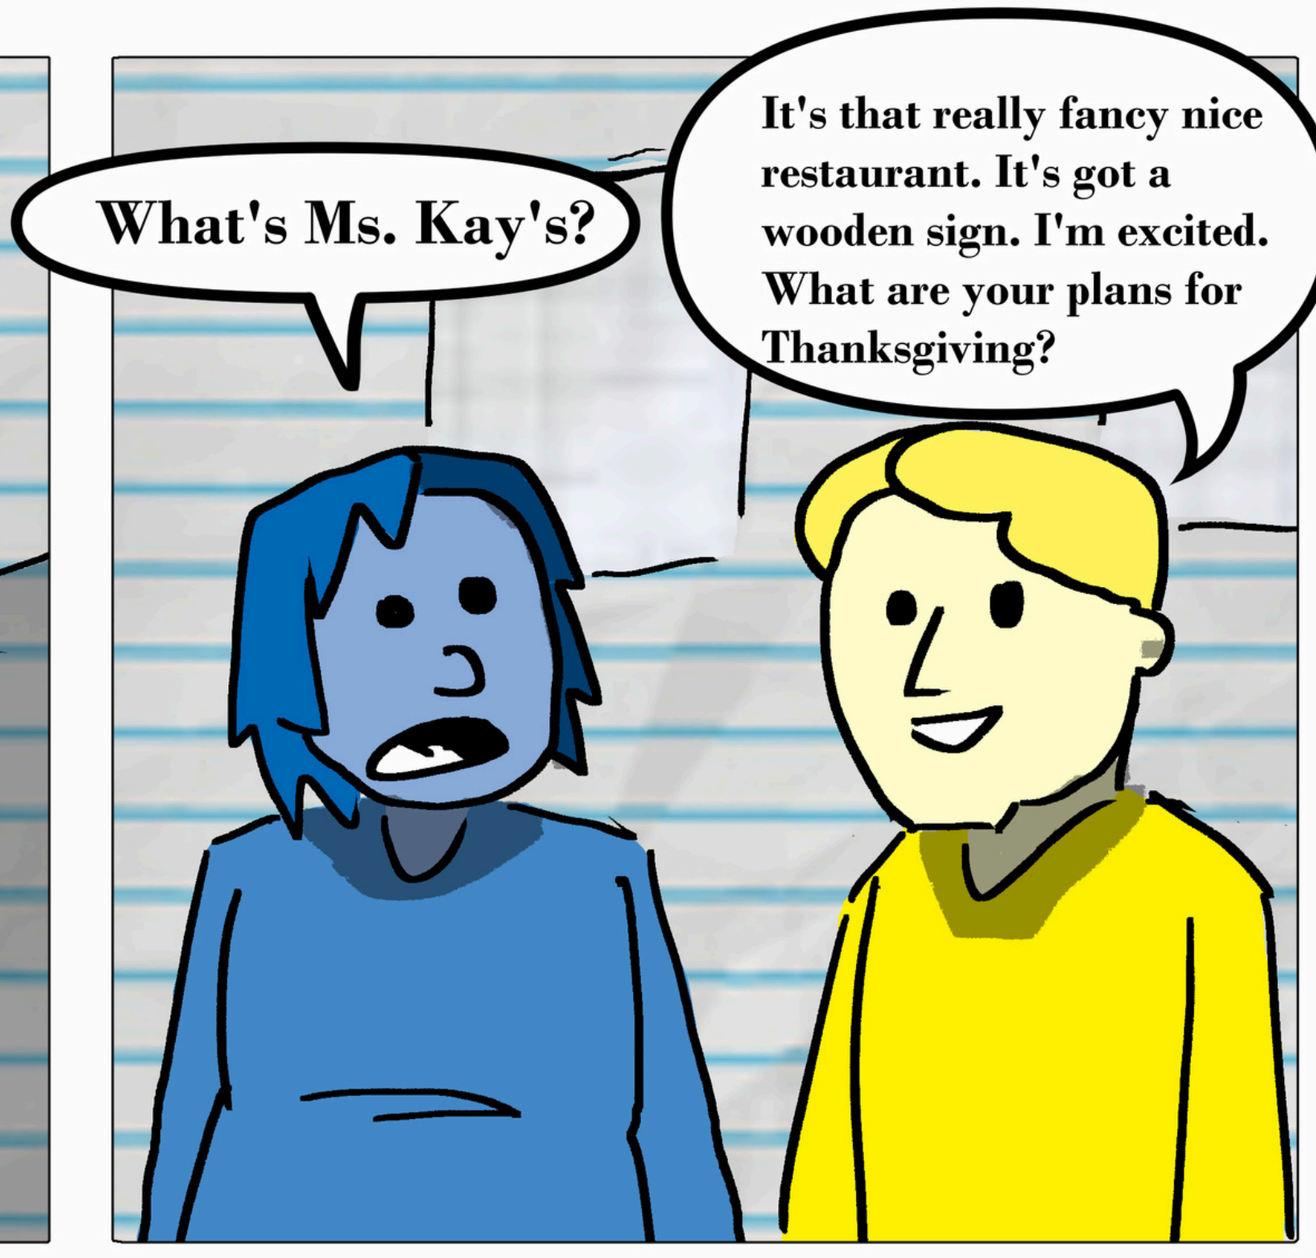
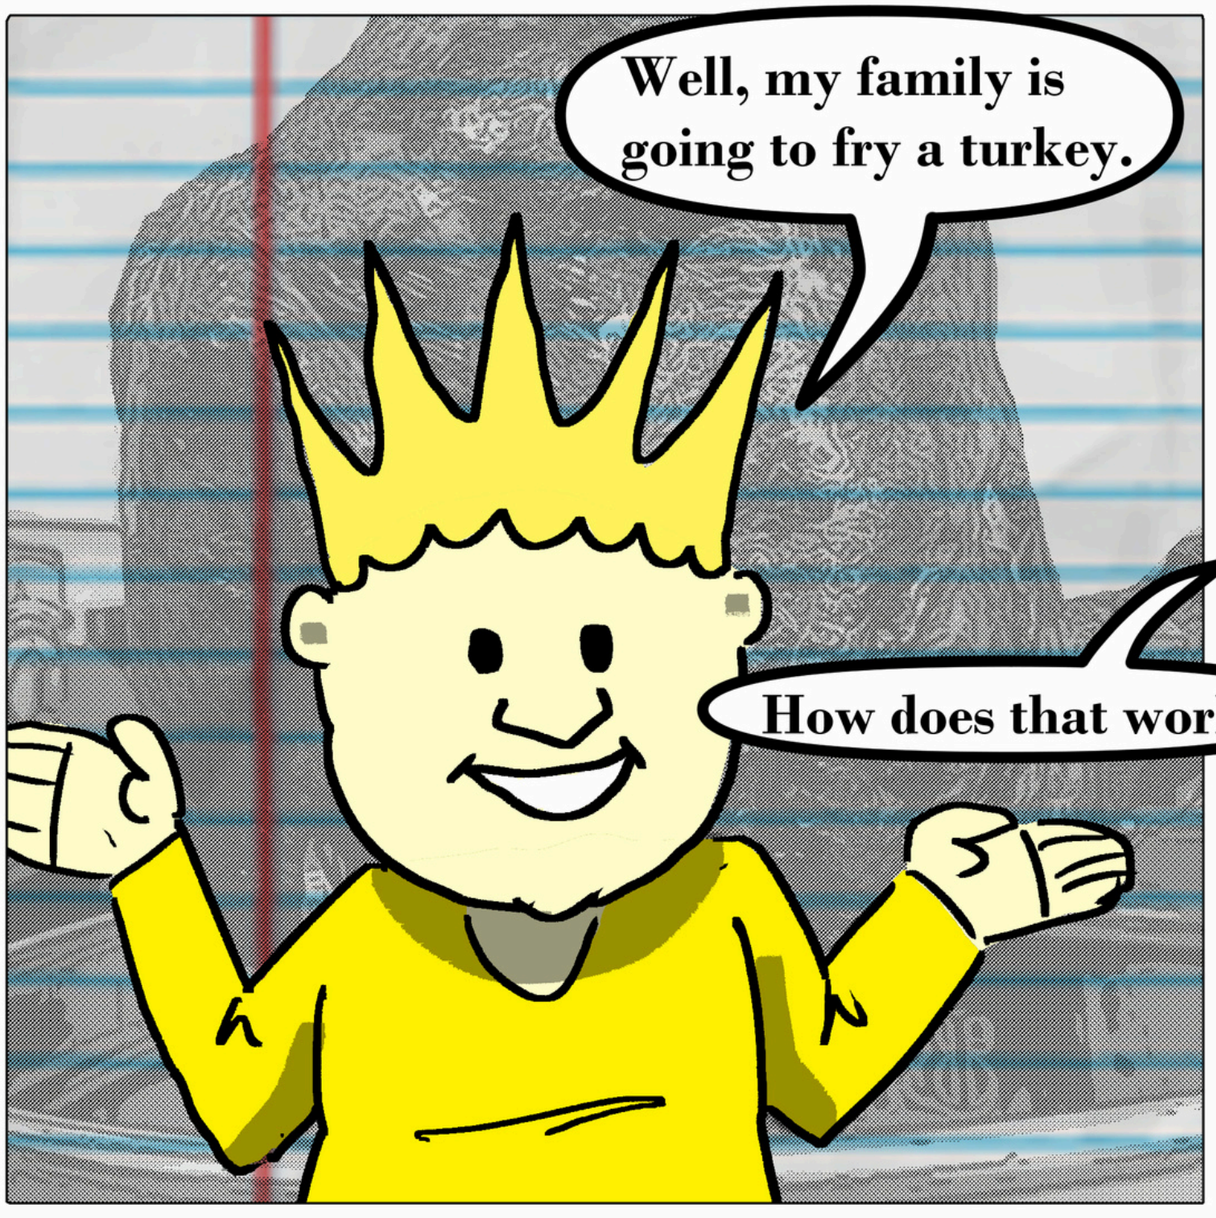
Sharing is Caring:

A Thanksgiving Story

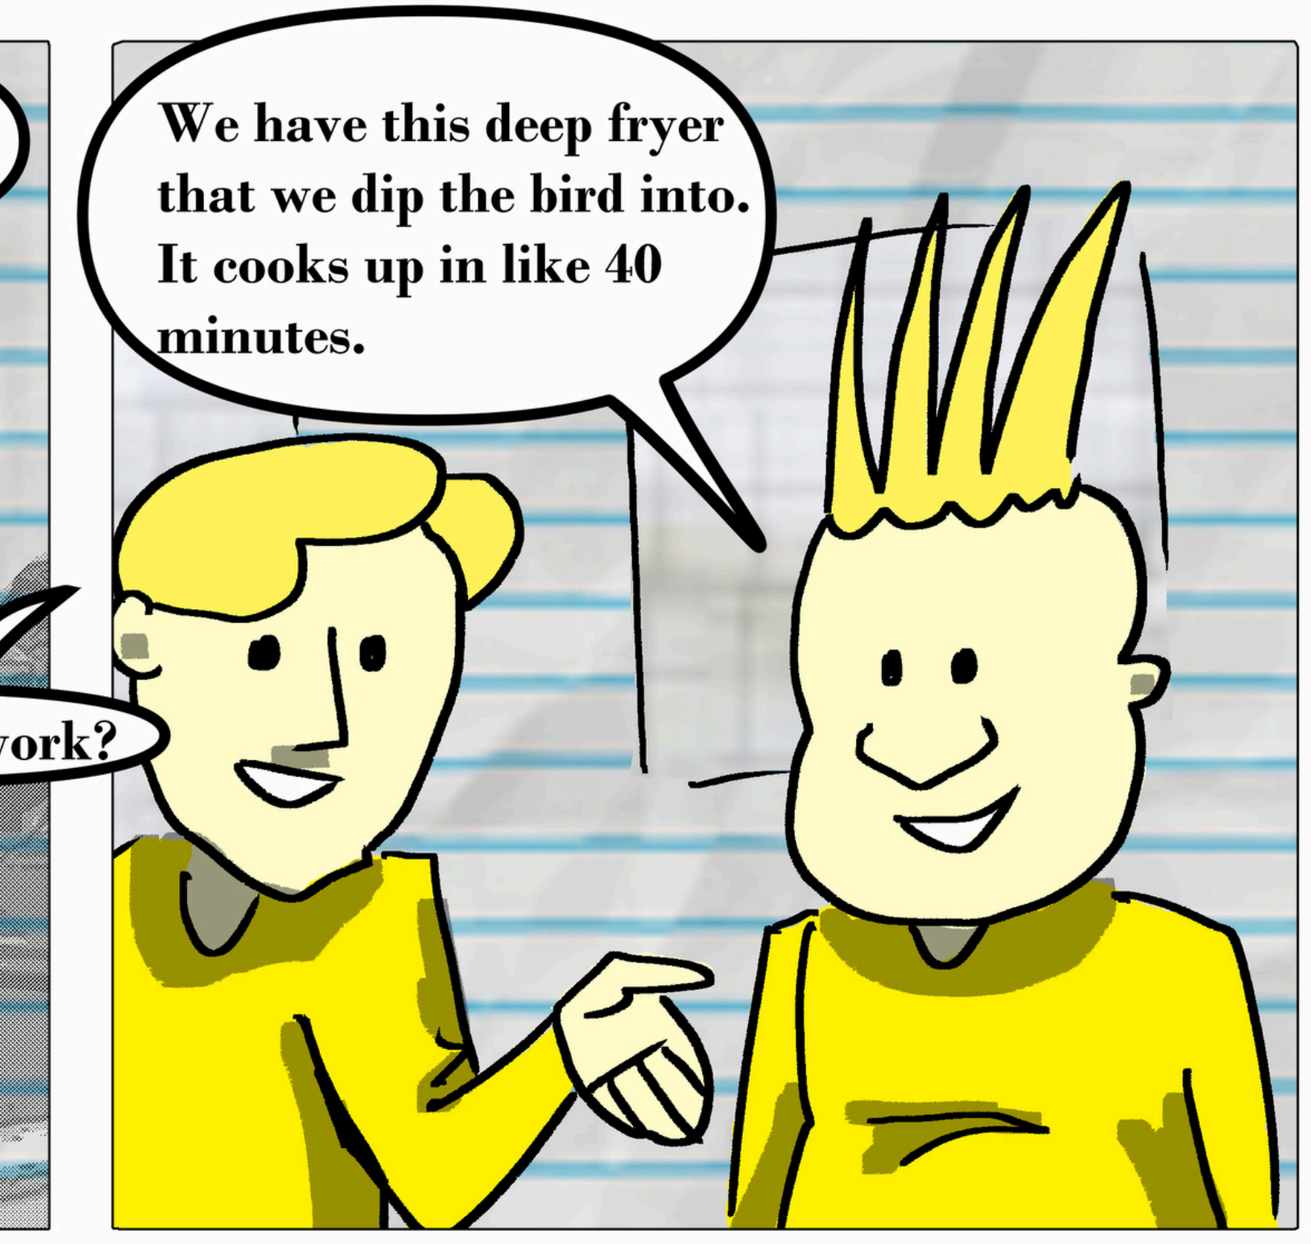
My family is going to have Thanksgiving at Ms. Kay's.



What's Ms. Kay's?
It's that really fancy nice restaurant. It's got a wooden sign. I'm excited. What are your plans for Thanksgiving?



Well, my family is going to fry a turkey.
How does that work?



We have this deep fryer that we dip the bird into. It cooks up in like 40 minutes.

Sounds great. Pointing at Henry What about your plans?

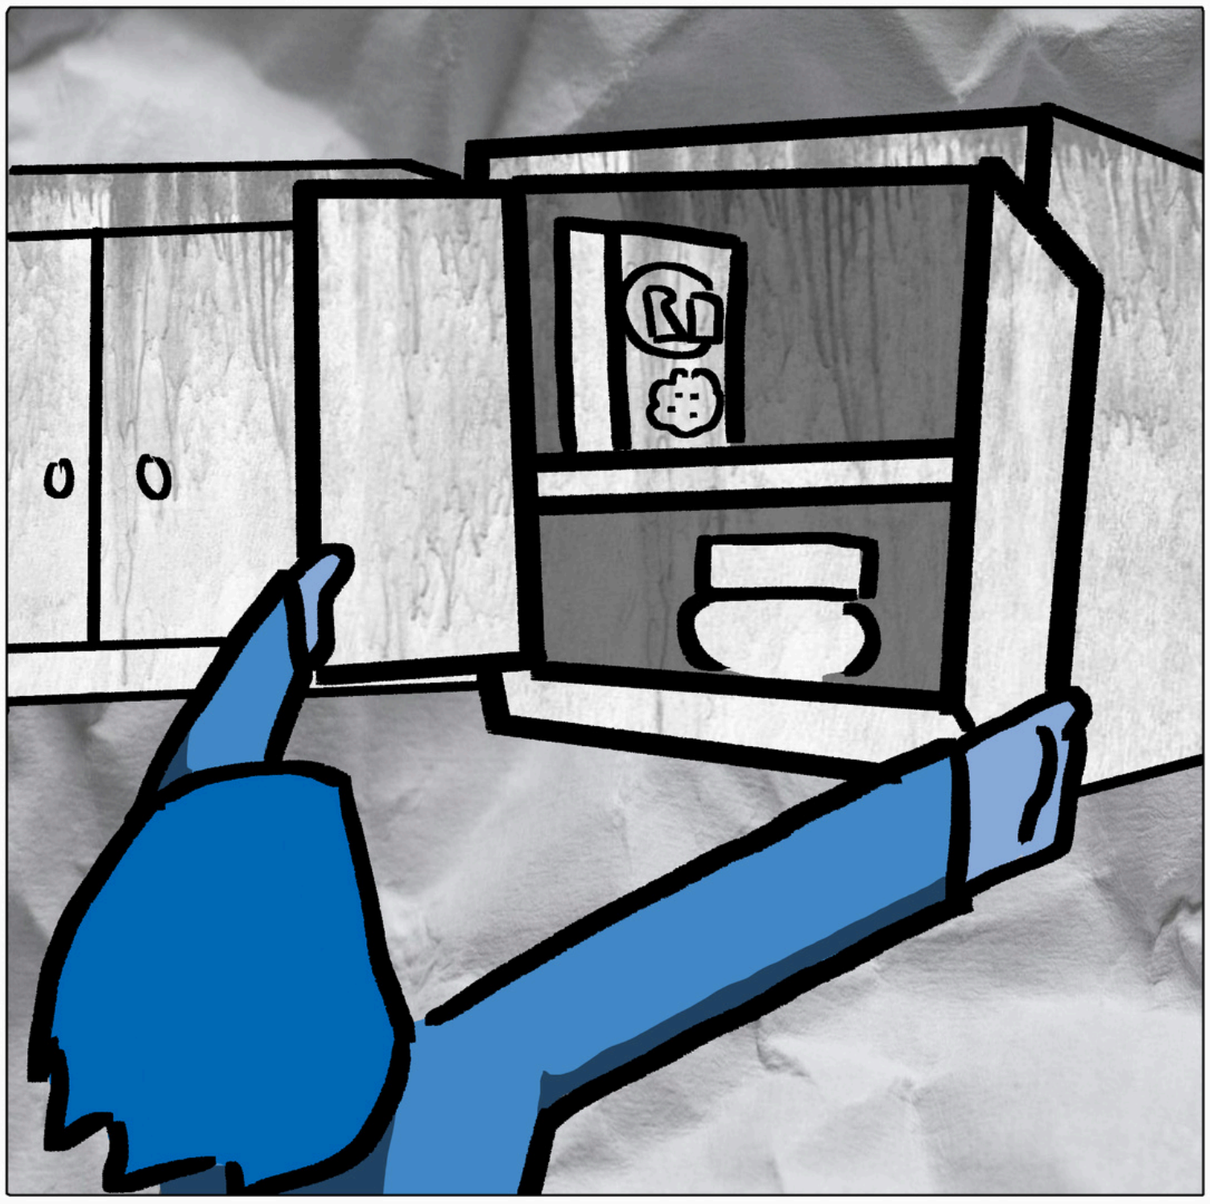
Mine?

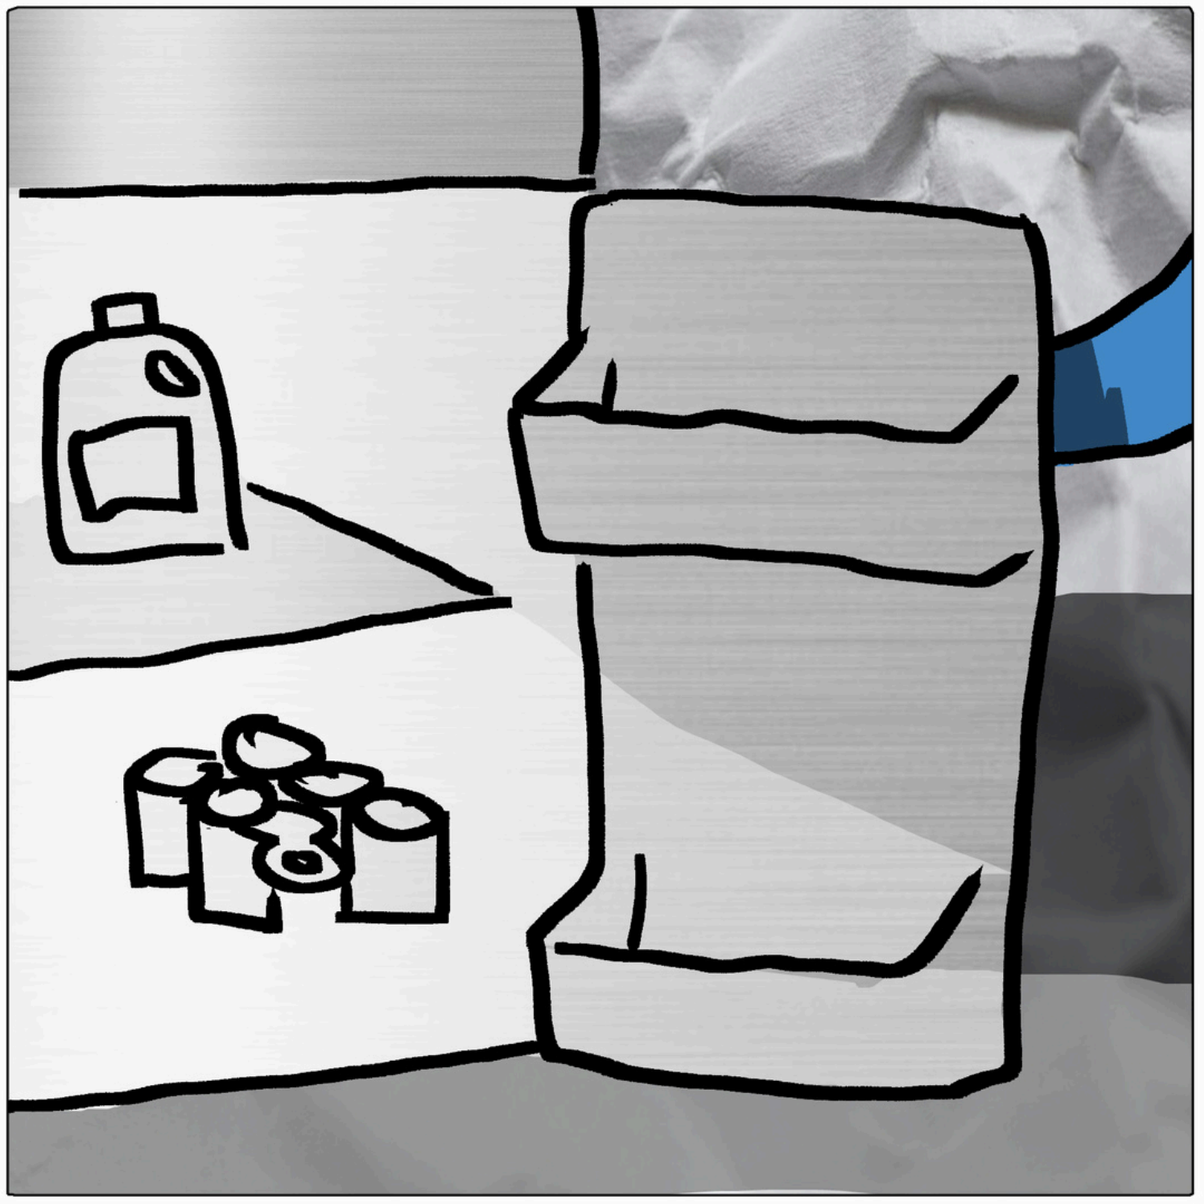
Yeah, what does your family do for Thanksgiving?

Well...

Hey Dad, what're our plans for Thanksgiving?

Henry looks through his cupboardss and fridge. Crackers, Vegarmite, Beer and old milk. Those were the options he had for a homemade Thanksgiving Dinner.

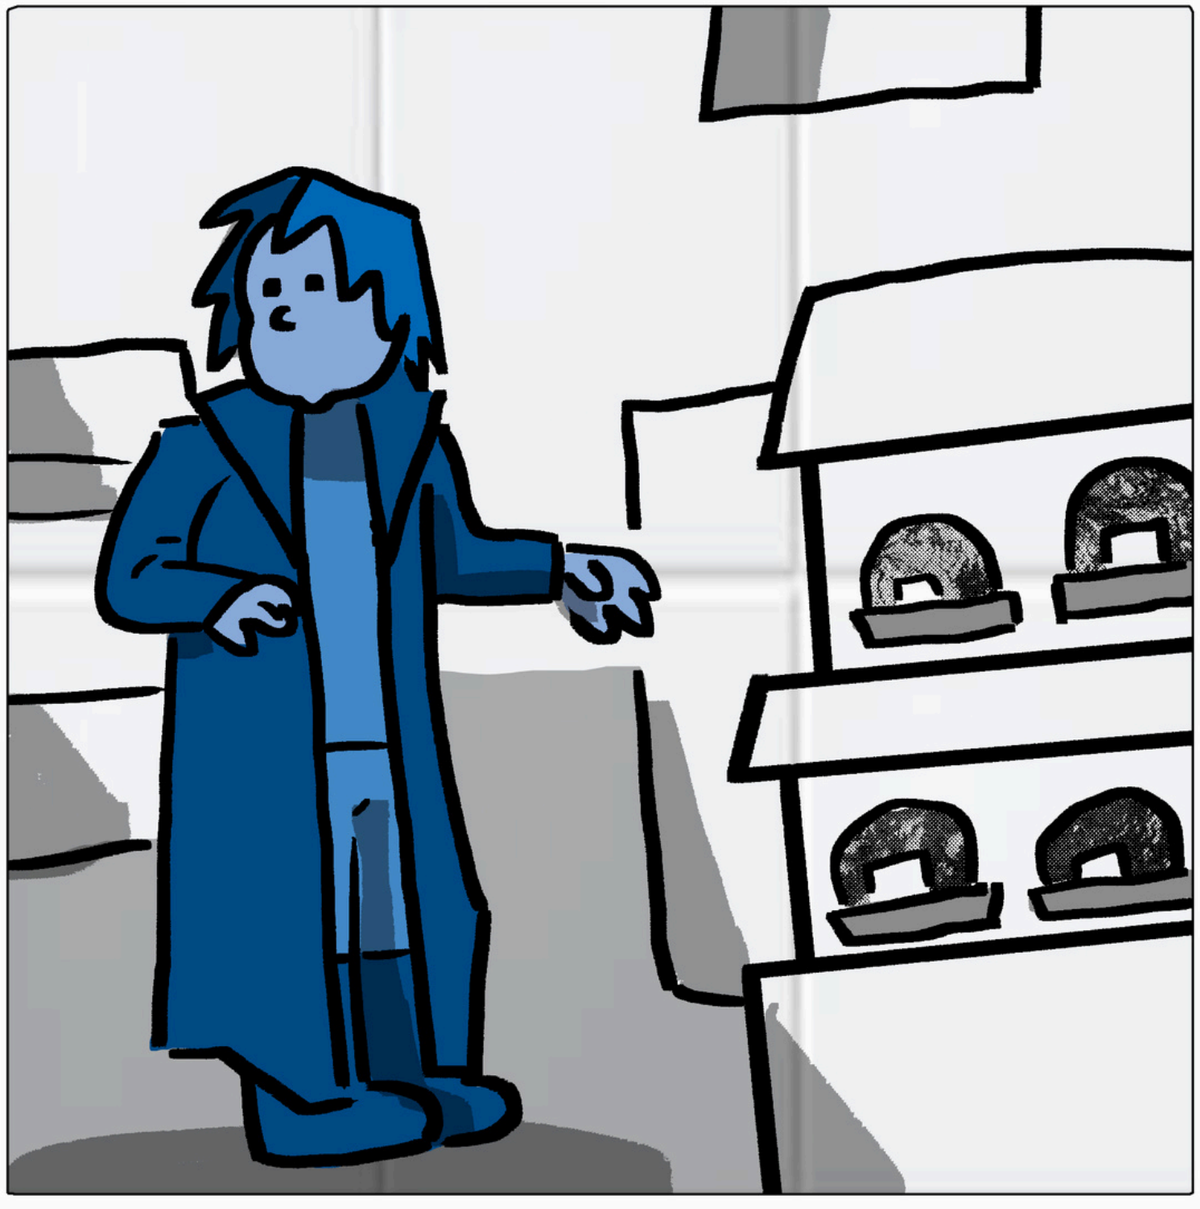




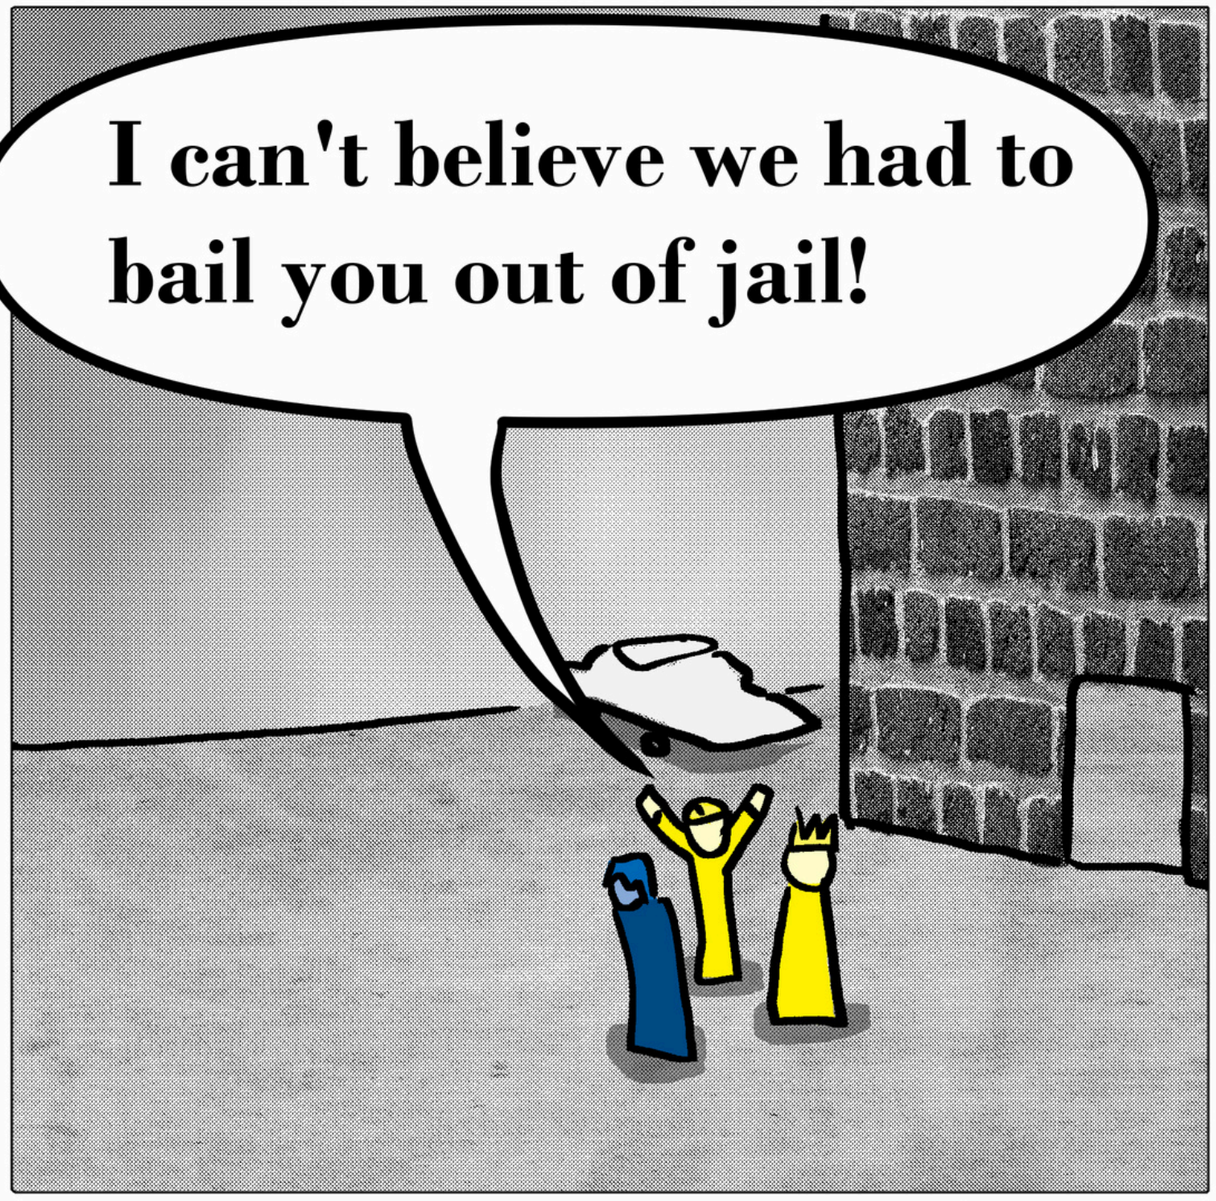
Grocery Store

Rotissirie Chicken
13.99$

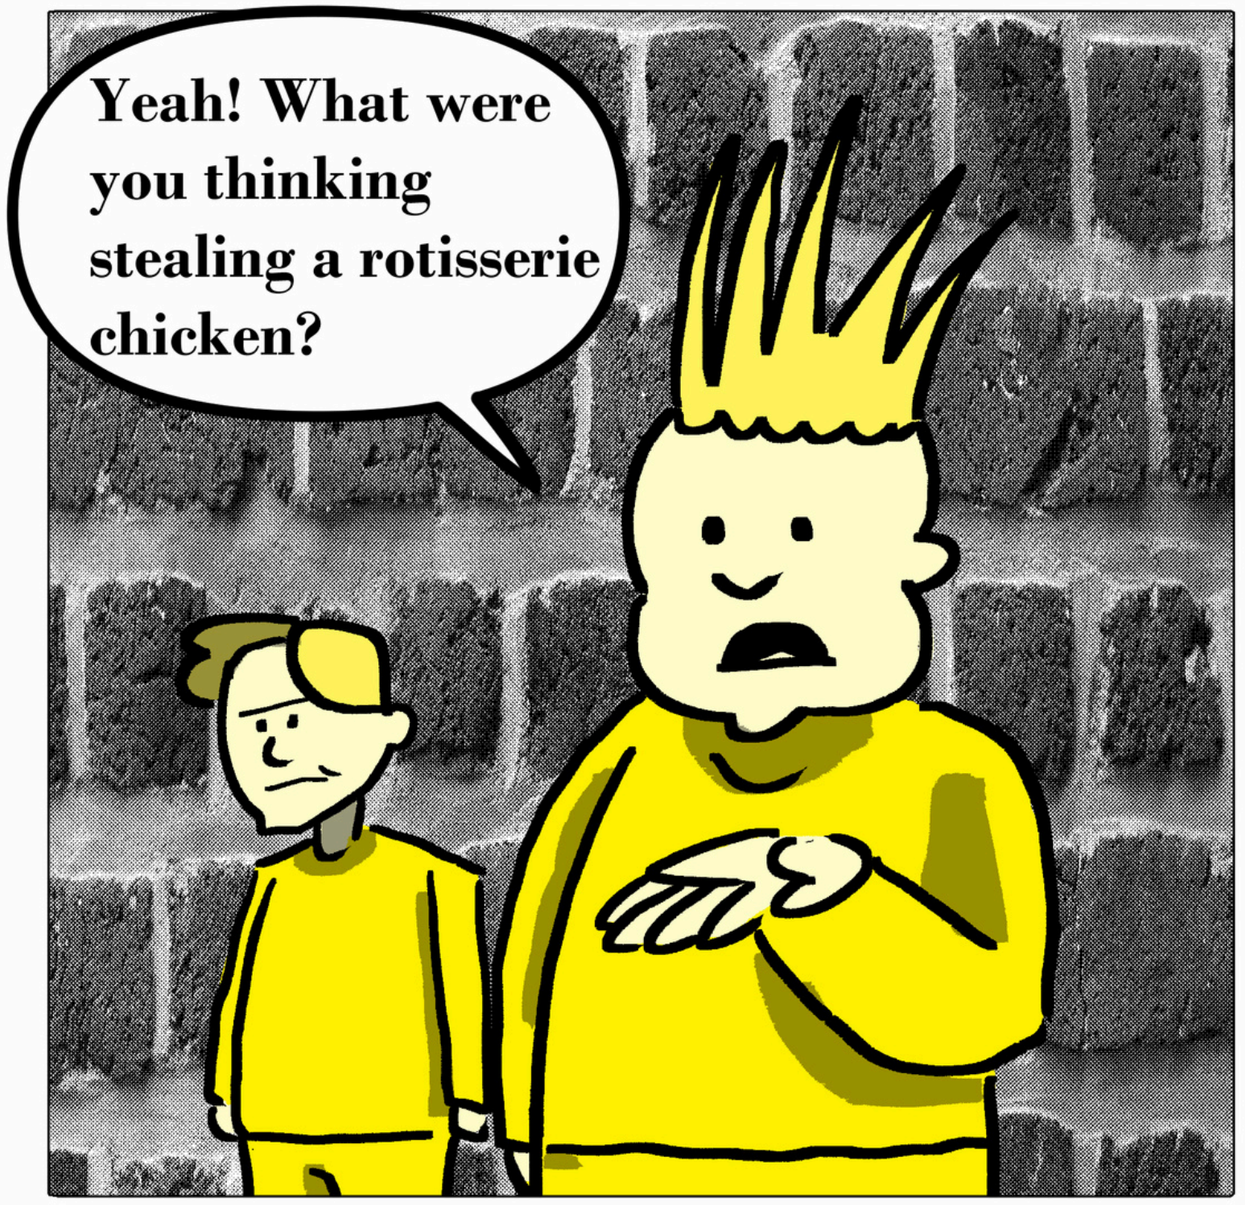
Rotissirie Chicken



Are you planning on paying for that?

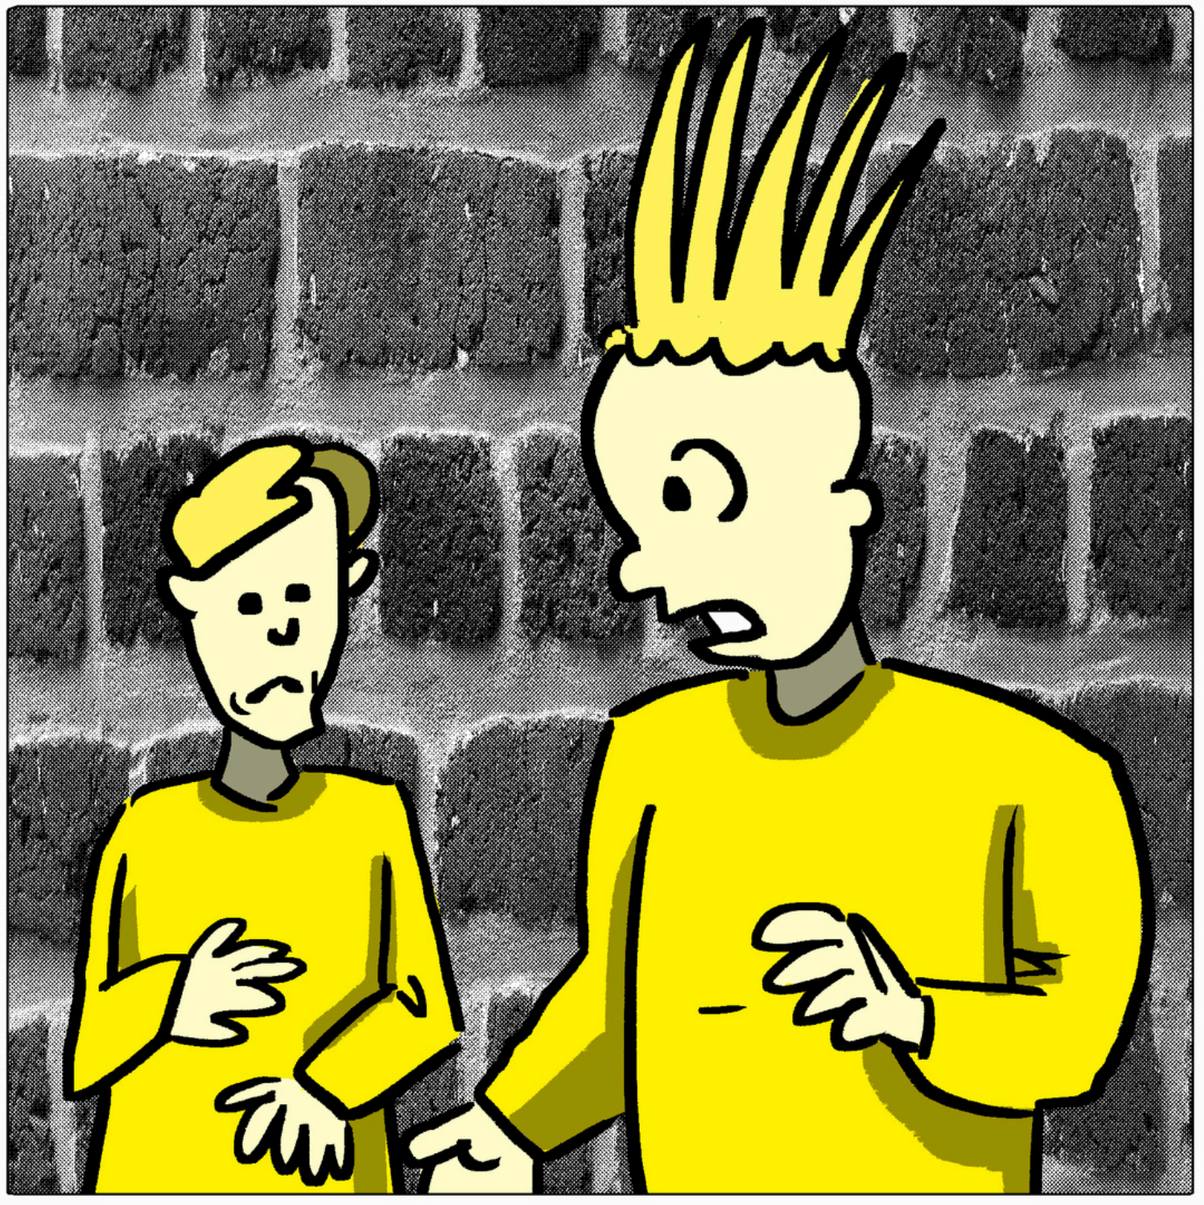


I can't believe we had to bail you out of jail!



Yeah! What were you thinking stealing a rotisserie chicken?

My family won't celebrate Thanksgiving. My dad's not the responsible type. I wanted to eat something special for the occasion. But I didn't have any money



One Moment. Noah! We need to Huddle.

We need to give Henry some sort of thanksgiving meal.

Hmm... I have an idea.

But what? My family won't want to have someone they don't know eat with us.
